Erik Durfey commented Port expenses, the 2016 budget, access to the water and Port projects.

VI. SECOND READING (Action Items):

A. Boat Ramp Update:

Mr. Pivarnik announced the ramp project is ahead of schedule. He said concrete is being poured in Tacoma for the precast panels, which will be ready for installation mid-January.

Commissioner Clinefelter referenced the Army Corps Boat Ramp Permit and asked about the required removal of 300 square feet of 'A' dock in order to accommodate the new ramp. Mr. Pivarnik answered it was removed and this is where the sheriff's boat had been kept. He added their boat is now in the commercial basin. Further discussion ensued on this resulting in a loss of moorage revenue. Commissioner Clinefelter also asked about the removal of the Quincy Street dock on the same Army Corps Permit. More discussion ensued on the additional costs that occurred for the boat ramp addition, prior to the actual project. Commissioner Clinefelter asked to have these costs added to the ramp cost worksheet. Commissioner Tucker added that two tribes have committed $20K towards boat ramp construction costs. Mr. Crockett reminded the Port is responsible for increasing public access to the water.

B. Craftsmen United:

Mr. Crockett stated Port staff has met with Dan Wiggins a few times, which he has provided updates to each commissioner. He said the next step in the process is to receive authorization from the commission to draft a letter of agreement so that Mr. Wiggins can move forward with engineering and permitting work. Mr. Crockett discussed the diagram showing the building footprint, which would be located in the former lumberyard area.

Commissioner Clinefelter moved to authorize the Executive Director to draft a letter of agreement with Dan Wiggins/Craftsmen United.

Commissioner Hanke seconded the motion.

Motion carried by unanimous vote.

C. 2016 Miscellaneous Fees:

Mr. Crockett noted these fees were discussed at the previous commission meeting and it is now up for approval. Commissioner Clinefelter said he has heard quite a bit of concern on the work-float cost increase and changes. Mr. Crockett added that, depending on work-float space demand, staff might be able to provide some flexibility to the customer on a case-by-case basis.

Commissioner Hanke moved to adopt the 2016 Miscellaneous Fees as presented.

Commissioner Clinefelter seconded the motion.

Motion carried by unanimous vote.

VII. FIRST READING (Discussion Only):

Motion passed by a vote of two, with Commissioner Hanke recusing himself, as owner of Puget Sound Express.

IX. STAFF COMMENTS:

Ms. Berg discussed the Port's banking transitions and that in January the Port would be down from using four banks to using only two. Kitsap Bank will train accounting staff on the cash management system (payroll and direct deposits).

Mr. Pivarnik announced he had a meeting with the permitting consultant for the Point Hudson Breakwater project. He learned that there is a high chance the Port may have permits in hand in early 2016. He added staff would know the end of January if the Port would receive them by the end of May. Mr. Pivarnik stated the commission would then have a decision to make – to move forward with the breakwater replacement project in 2016 or wait until 2017. Mr. Crockett added that if started in 2016, demolition would not begin until after the Wooden Boat Festival. He reminded this would be a two-year project.

Mr. Crockett said he continues to work on his list of eight or nine things to do at the January meeting. He will provide the commission with that list prior to the meeting in case they have any additions to the list. He reported that he attended a farewell at the Port of Port Angeles for an outgoing Commissioner. Lastly, he announced the Port would be closed Thursday and Friday for the holidays and again, Friday, January 1 for the New Year.

XI. EMPLOYEE TRAVEL, EDUCATION & CONFERENCE ATTENDANCE

The ED is authorized to approve travel and attendance of conferences or education opportunities by employees, without prior Commission approval. The limits of such authorization shall be for travel within the continental United States and the total costs shall not exceed $1,000.00. The ED will review all requests for travel to conferences or education to assure that it is applicable to the Port or Port operations.

XII. BANKING SERVICES AND INVESTMENT OF TEMPORARILY IDLE PORT FUNDS

The ED is authorized to negotiate for banking services and enter into agreements for such services; provided, however, unless approved in advance by the Commission, such agreements shall be terminable by the Port, without penalty. Procedures shall be established for the deposit / disbursement of Port funds recognizing the requirements cited in RCW 53.36.010 and that such procedures shall provide for an adequate system of internal control. Such banking service agreements shall be reported to the Commission at the next regular meeting.

For purposes of this section, "Temporarily Idle Funds" shall mean those funds which are not required for immediate expenditure. The Port District ED is authorized to develop procedures to direct the Port Treasurer, in accordance with applicable law relating to the investment of public funds, in the investments of

XVI. ADMINISTERIAL CHECKS AND WARRANTS

The Executive Director is authorized to approve checks and warrants issued in the nature of administerial expenses for the efficient and proper management of port district operations as delegated in this resolution or reasonably implied from the same. APPROVED AS TO FORM:

To: All Public Ports
From: Lee Reaves
Chief Examiner
Subject: Promotional Hosting Guidelines

This bulletin has been prepared with the assistance of the Office of Attorney General and is designed to provide guidelines for the expenditure of public funds pursuant to Article VIII, Section 8, of the State Constitution, RCW 53.36.120, .130, .140 and .150 and Account No. 8081 of the prescribed Uniform System of Accounts for Ports Districts of the State of Washington.

DEFINITION

"Hosting" is defined in these guidelines to mean and include furnishing customary meals, refreshments, lodging, transportation, or any combination of those items in connection with:

- a. Business meetings,
- b. Social gatherings,
- c. Ceremonies honoring persons or events, relating to the authorized business promotional activities of a port. "Hosting" may also include reasonable, customary and incidental entertainment, and souvenirs of nominal value, incident to such events.

SPECIFIC LEGAL REQUIREMENTS

1. Expenditures for promotional hosting shall be pursuant to specific budget items as approved by the port commission. (RCW 53.36.120)
2. Funds for promotional hosting expenditures shall be expended only from gross operating revenues. See RCW 53.36.130 for limits and exception.
3. Port commissions shall adopt, in writing, rules and regulations governing promotional hosting expenditures by port employees or agents. Such rules shall identify officials and agents authorized to make such expenditures and approved objectives of such spending. All payments and reimbursements shall be identified and supported on vouchers approved by the port auditor. (RCW 53.36.140)

BASIC STANDARD

The basic standard for promotional hosting at public expense is that the promotional hosting is calculated to result in the public purpose, declared by the Washington State Constitution, of promoting industrial development or trade within the district. Exceptions will be taken to any hosting when its possible influence on industrial development or trade promotion is so indirect or tenuous that the hosting expenditure appears to be hosting for the sake of hosting.

GENERAL GUIDELINES

A. Hosting Private Business

(This is the classic type of promotional hosting which was at issue in O'Connell v. Port of Seattle, 65 Wn. 2d 801, 399 P.2d 623 (1965), and which was undoubtedly the main type of hosting contemplated by the Legislature and the people when they adopted Article VIII, Section 8, of the State Constitution and the status implementing that constitutional provision.) Undoubtedly, the legislative intent was to put ports on something of an equal footing with private businesses, in the relationship of ports with private businesses - that is, to permit ports to serve food and drink in meetings and contacts with private business even where the private business had no contractual obligation to give the port anything in return, on the theory that the meals and refreshments would help create an atmosphere of goodwill in those situations and that general goodwill would in the future enhance and promote trade and industrial development. In general, the auditor will not question the expenditure of port district funds for hosting private business, in accordance with the basic standard, when properly accounted for.

B. Hosting of Union Officials

It is recognized that union officials represent a substantial segment of port employees and that the productivity of those employees has a direct influence on a port's ability to secure and retain trade, but whether union officials are in a position to influence industrial development or trade promotion is a question of fact. Port districts should be prepared to show that the activities of a particular union or union official are sufficiently connected to trade promotion or industrial development in the port to justify such hosting. The auditor will look to the activities of a particular union or union official and will consider the hosting of such union official justified if there is sufficient evidence to show that the particular union is directly involved in current or proposed port activities.

C. Hosting Foreign Government Officials

When the officials of a port district reasonably believe that promotional hosting of an official of a foreign government will tend to promote trade and industrial development between the nation and port, reasonable expenditures of port funds for that purpose will be recognized. Exception will be taken if the hosting violates the basic standard or violates the laws of the foreign nation in question.

D. Hosting U.S. Governmental Officials

Port district officials must be especially cautious in hosting U.S. Government officials. In many cases there are statutes or regulations which would prohibit or limit their acceptance of gifts or gratuities. Consistent with federal law, port districts are permitted to host federal government officials whose work may directly affect the port district's trade or industrial development activities. Generally no audit exception will be taken to hosting which is properly incident to ceremonies honoring either foreign or U.S. Government officials where such hosting is consistent with the role of the port in promoting commerce. Exception will be taken to the hosting of officials whose work does not relate directly to industrial development or trade promotion unless the port's records reflect a particular reason why the hosting in question would clearly tend to promote industrial development or trade promotion in the district and is otherwise proper.

E. Promotional Hosting of Government Officials of Other States

The standard will be the same as in paragraph D, Hosting U.S. Government Officials.

F. Promotional Hosting of Washington State and Local Government Officials and Employees (Other than Port District Officials and Employees)

Generally, state and local officials in Washington who do business with the port district will be expected to seek reimbursement from their own employing agencies for meals and lodging which are lawfully reimbursable. In particular cases, the auditor will consider evidence that the use of promotional hosting funds for food, drink or lodging for state or local government officials was an appropriate hosting expenditure in connection with meetings relating to trade or commerce; for example, where uniform travel regulations would prevent the hosted official or employee from being reimbursed by his or her own agency, or when particular expenditures are inseparable as a practical matter from otherwise proper promotional hosting activities.

G. Hosting Officers and Employees of Other Port Districts

As to ports located outside Washington, the analysis applied to officials of other states and counties would be applicable here. As to officials of port districts within the state, hosting will be governed by the same rules as hosting other Washington State officials and employees described in paragraph F. Generally, hosting of a port's own officers and employees will not be regarded as permissible "hosting". To the extent that a port district officer or employee may be lawfully required or authorized to attend a port district function, whether promotional or otherwise, the necessary expenses of such officer or employee are reimbursable at port expense under RCW 53.08.175. However, it is possible that unreimbursable costs may be incurred by the district on account of the attendance of one or more of its officers or employees at such events, which are inseparable from the overall cost of the event. In such cases, those costs are payable to the same extent as for other local government officials described earlier in this bulletin.

H. Hosting Spouses of Officials, Etc.

There will be times when the spouse of a shipper, ship captain, business or government official to be hosted will be present. In such a circumstance it would be proper to host the spouse also.

PROMOTIONAL HOSTING FROM ADVANCE TRAVEL REVOLVING FUND

RCM 42.24.120 authorizes advances for travel expenses to officers and employees of municipal corporations and other political subdivisions. The question has arisen whether payments for promotional hosting on behalf of a port district may be made from money advanced from an Advance Travel Expense Revolving Fund.

The Attorney General's Office has issued an informal opinion to the State Auditor's Office, dated September 29, 1969, concerning this question, a portion of which we quote:

"Noting that Chapter 74, Laws of 1969, authorizes advance payments of only 'travel expenses,' the answer depends upon (a) the extent to which promotional hosting expenditures in any given case constitute 'travel expenses,' and (b) the extent to which advances of such travel expenses may be authorized by the port commission itself, in its regulations. In my opinion, if a port district officer or employee, who is traveling on business of the port district, has been authorized to expend funds for promotional hosting, in the course of and incident to such travel, then such expenditures constitute a part of his 'travel expenses' and may be legitimately advanced under appropriate regulations of the port commission."

To summarize, if a port district official or employee is authorized by the port district commissioners to make expenditures for promotional hosting and if such promotional hosting is done while in travel status, then the cost of such promotional hosting may be paid with monies advanced from the Advance Travel Expense Revolving Fund.

MEETING OF: January 13, 2016

AGENDA ITEM: VII. First Reading
D. Draft 2016 Capital Budget

BACKGROUND:

The following is the proposed 2016 Capital Budget:

Sail Loft Building (install of fire escape and fire suppression)	$150,000
Storm Water Lift Station	$180,000
Maintenance vehicles (3 trucks)	$ 50,000
Yard vehicle (1 truck)	$ 15,000
Point Hudson Breakwater	$200,000
Total	$595,000

The Sail Loft project cannot be delayed since it is a threat to life and property. The Storm Water project cannot be delayed since the lift station's function is resulting in skewed water test results due to salt water entering the system. The trucks for both Maintenance and the Yard are long over-due as many of our vehicles are in poor condition; there will likely be more vehicles needed for replacement in 2017. The Breakwater project is progressing at a faster pace than anticipated just a month or two ago and this dollar amount is a rough estimate of Port dollars that could be required in 2016.

Executive Director's Recommendation:

We are requesting the Commission officials review and consider these projects and their respective budgets so the Port can adopt a final 2016 Capital Budget at the next Commission meeting on January 27, 2016.

Dear Tami,

I enjoyed meeting you at the Harbormaster Office on Tuesday and am writing to place my request in writing before the Port Of Port Townsend.

I represent the Gardiner Salmon Derby Association which hosts the Olympic Peninsula Salmon Derby in February of each year. In prior years the Port has been generous in waiving launch fees during our event.

I am requesting that the Port again consider again waiving launch fees at Boat Haven for our derby in 2016 on February 19 -21. The Gardiner Salmon Derby Assoc. is a 501c3 organization and uses all proceeds to further the Gardiner community needs and offer support to our local emergency services.

Last year was a great derby for us and we hope to continue in that spirit with your help.
